

88 SIGNS

A TAURUS GUY LIKES YOU

A GUIDE TO OWNING IT

"Hopefully, some of these will be helpful as you navigate your way through the interesting and never boring world of dating a Taurus man.."

ANNA KOVACH

DISCLAIMER:

No part of this book may be used or reproduced in any manner whatsoever without written permission except in the case of brief quotations utilized in articles and reviews. The programs and information expressed within this book are not medical advice, but rather represent the author's opinions and are solely for informational and educational purposes. The author is not responsible in any manner whatsoever for any injury or health condition that may occur through following the techniques, opinions and advice expressed herein. Information is presented for informational purposes only and may not be appropriate for all individuals. Consult with your partner before starting any of the methods described in this book.

IMPORTANT COPYRIGHT AND LEGAL NOTICE:

You do NOT have permission to copy, re-distribute, resell, auction, or otherwise give away copies of Taurus Man Secrets — 88 Signs A Taurus Guy Likes You no matter what the format is, e-book or physical. International copyright laws apply to ebooks as well.

If you attempt to do any of the above methods of distributing this e-book or physical book, you are in violation of international copyright laws and are subject to fines and imprisonment. Copyright infringement is a serious crime with fines starting at $150,000 and up, including potential imprisonment upon conviction.

I have embedded unique tracking codes in this book, designed to detect illegal distribution and the download links. Do NOT risk getting yourself in legal trouble by illegally distributing this ebook on file sharing networks and websites. However, you DO have permission to print exactly 1 copy of this book for your own use, or copy the pdf file to your own CD for a back-up use.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

88 Signs A Taurus Guy Likes You

Learn How To Read A Taurus Man Like An Open Book

Figuring out whether or not that hot Taurus you've had your eye on likes you or not can be a rather difficult task, trust me, I understand. Having fallen for the wiley ways of my own Taurus man, I understand just how confusing men born under the sign of the bull can be. I mean seriously, to be such a stable personality, I have on more than one occasion wondered if my Taurus man had just lost his mind or something...As it turns out, he's just got a lot of weird, but adorable, quirks.

One day he's super into you and you think things are going along just swimmingly, then, the next thing you know, that perfect guy seems to just fall off the face of the earth--It's enough to drive a girl absolutely mad! No worries, though, what I'm about to share with you will help you understand his mind a little better and tell if he likes you, and if so, how much.

Now, in my experience, both personal and working with clients who've shared with me their personal experiences, there are certain specific habits and behaviors that tell you he's into you. For this particular guide I've put together the top 88 things to look out for that indicate a Taurus man is into you. Then, if you want to learn even more about these enigmatic guys, and how you can make him yours...you can get started with “The Beginner's Guide to a Taurus Man's Heart” here.

Once you know he's interested in you, the ball is in your court, giving you the upper hand. And, well, if you're not seeing at least 30-40% of these 88 signs, then that's just another reason why you should learn from Taurus Man Secrets and GET him to like you if he doesn't already.

I can't guarantee that you'll always understand him or that he won't go MIA when he gets overwhelmed, but I can help you learn to read your Taurus man and tell how deep and genuine his attraction to you is by reading his signs.

Read Next: “The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart”

1.) He's not pursuing anyone else

You may be left wondering whether or not that hot Taurus guy you've been flirting with is into you or not, and as difficult of a question as this can be to figure out, one way to know he's into you is by observing that he's not into anyone else.

Sometimes it really is what he doesn't say that says it all. If you've got a Taurus guy friend who flirts with you regularly and makes it a point to let you know that he's not seeing anyone and you know he's not pursuing anyone, it's a pretty safe bet that he's looking to take your connection beyond friendship.

2.) His smile lights up when you are around him

Taurus men are known for their adorably sweet smiles, and when one of these guys is crushing hard, you'll see it written all over his face. There's something about his boyish smile that draws you in and makes you want to talk to him and see what else makes him smile.

Facial expressions are hard to hide, making this is a great way to tell just how into you he is. A genuine smile isn't something you can fake, so the more you make him smile, the more into you he is. Also, being that Taurus men aren't always great with expressing feelings, something as simple as a smile can reveal more than you may realize.

3.) He invites you into his bubble

If your Taurus guy has invited you over to his house, into his group of friends, or otherwise into his personal bubble, there's no question of his feelings for you. Taurus men are, by nature, pretty private personalities, and they don't go around inviting just anybody into their personal space, so if you've reached that point with your Taurus man, consider yourself quite lucky.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

Taurus guys absolutely hate change, it gives the feeling of losing control, something Taurus men really don't like. It's always a gamble to bring someone into your private life, so if you've made it there with him you know he's fairly certain you're a great match for each other.

4.) He showers you with small gifts

If your Taurus guy starts to surprise you with little gifts or if he starts paying your way when you're together, there's a very good chance he's trying to figure out how to best make a move on you. Taurus like tangible evidence of...well, everything, really...and they also like to form collections of things that make them happy. You may find that your Taurus guy gets a collection of something you like going for you, which is actually pretty cool and can be a lot of fun.

Aside from nifty little collectibles, Taurus men also have the habit of gifting totally practical things to a crush if it seems like doing so would help you out in any way. These guys observe more than they speak, and being Scorpio's polarity, Taurus men pick up on way more than you may realize.

5.) He protects you

Taurus men are the the gentlemen of the Zodiac, but like Dick-Van-Dyke era gentlemen. So, when they set their sites on you, the natural reaction is to be your protector and to treat you with respect. This includes making sure other people treat you the same.

If you find that your Taurus guy protects you in public (even though you aren't quite convinced you really needed protecting), this is a sure sign that he's hot for you. And, a bit of advice: If you like him, let him protect you.

6.) He asks you personal questions

Taurus men aren't the type to go around getting to know everyone on a deeper level, unless maybe he was born right on the Taurus/Gemini cusp.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

As a general rule, though, these guys aren't super chatty and they prefer to avoid "filler conversation."

That said, if you find yourself in the company of a Taurus man who just can't seem to get enough of hearing about your childhood and those slightly fuzzy college days you reminisce about now and again, you know he wants to deepen your relationship. He may not be as open and giving with his own history right off the bat, but in time he will open up and share his hidden side with you.

7.) His body language says it all

Taurus men are naturally kind of shy, so it's not uncommon for a Taurus guy to miss out on some romantic opportunities simply because he never says anything. This is where being able to read his body language comes in handy.

Does your Taurus guy always seem to find his way beside or behind you in a group? Does his posture straighten up a bit when you walk in the room? Perhaps he always leans in to you whenever the two of you are talking? All of these things and, of course, the regular body language signs someone is into you, show when a Taurus guy is interested in more than just friendship with you.

8.) You can tell that you make him a little nervous

It's usually pretty obvious when a guy is nervous around you. He will fumble with his words, become clumsy, maybe even start sweating a little. Taurus men are generally confident and are not easily shaken...unless his crush comes in and shakes up his world, at which time he may momentarily show signs of being nervous and unsure of how to act around you.

This isn't something that will last very long, but in the initial stages of your relationship (like the first couple of times you meet), if your presence seems to be intimidating to him or make him nervous, it's a safe bet that your Taurus guy is totally into you.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

9.) He gives you complements

Most guys who give you complements are attracted to what you've got to offer, but not all guys actually mean what they say in the moment. If a Taurus man complements you, he means it. Taurus guys don't go around handing out complements to just anybody, so if he takes the time to tell you how nice you look or that he liked how you handled something, pay attention.

I've never met a Taurus guy who was into cat-calling or anything of the sort. Taurus guys are genuine and, as I mentioned, they have a keen eye for beauty, so if you do receive complements from one of them it's quite an accomplishment.

10.) He takes you someplace really nice

If he's taking you someplace at all then you probably have an idea that he's into you, but how into you is he? Well, if your Taurus guy is willing to invest in taking you out to the nicest place in town, you'll know he's in it for the long haul and he really digs you--A lot.

Taurus men are known for loving luxury, but also for being a little on the cheap side. In other words, he's willing to pay up for his own luxury but to have him pay for yours with a smile on his face is a great sign that this guy is a keeper.

11.) He laughs at your jokes

Taurus men tend to have a great sense of humor and they really enjoy a good joke. If you are the type to tell jokes or if you just have a feisty sense of humor, there's a good chance that's a big part of what attracts that Taurus guy to you in the first place. When you find someone whose sense of humor matches up with yours, it's a really awesome kind of connection, and not one you want to lose.

So, if you notice your Taurus guy is always laughing at your jokes, even the ones that aren't all that funny, it's safe to presume that he wants to be more than friends. What's awesome about this sign is that you kinda already know this relationship is going to be fun, being built on humor and all.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

12.) He gets jealous over you

Even if you aren't together officially, your Taurus guy can't help but to become jealous over you if it seems like someone else is stepping in and potentially messing up his chances of sealing the deal with you.

Taurus men are inherently jealous to begin with--Again, he is Scorpio's polarity--And these jealous tendencies come out most strongly when he feels close to losing you. So, if your Taurus friend has started being jealous over your newest date night partner, you now know he wants to be more than just friends.

13.) He isn't distracted by other things when you are together

We're all guilty, at least a little, of letting ourselves get distracted by friends, our phones, or whatever else is going on around us, when we should be paying attention to our date. When a Taurus man is really into you, he won't be distracted by anything else when he has your attention.

One of the best qualities of your Taurus guy is that you know he's someone you can depend on. He takes things kind of seriously, which can be a downer from time to time, but when he likes you he wants you to realize that you're the most important thing in his immediate environment when you spend time together.

14.) He includes you in his future plans

Depending on what kind of relationship you have with your Taurus guy, as his feelings for you turn toward romance he will start to consider you in whatever plans he makes. It can be something as simple as where you're going to have dinner to what time is best to have his little sister's birthday party (so you can make it, of course), this is one sweet gesture that shows your Taurus man can see a future with you as more than just friends.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

15.) He starts to protect those closest to you

This kind of goes back to the Taurus habit of protecting those he cares for. The more he likes you the more he will want to know that you are safe and happy. You won't be happy if something happens to your little sister or niece, but when he's around you won't have to worry.

After you've been in a relationship with a Taurus man for a while, you'll likely find that your close friends and family go to him for advice or a shoulder to lean on at one time or another. He wouldn't extend this invitation to invade his bubble to just anyone, so if he does it for you and yours there is no need to question his feelings for you because they run deep.

16.) He makes note of the obvious chemistry between the two of you

You can tell when there is chemistry between you and a guy, you may not be able to describe it, exactly, but you know it when it's there. Chemistry is what attraction and lust are created of and finding someone you share perfect chemistry with is both rare and incredibly amazing.

If you feel that spark of chemistry between you and your Taurus man consider yourself one of the lucky ones. If he makes mention of it, consider yourself one of the incredibly lucky ones! You won't have to question his feelings for you with all that Venusian energy combined with the chemistry you both notice. Just be careful with this kind of connection and guard your heart--It's easy to fall so deeply in love from chemistry that your heart gets set in a position where it could easily be broken. Don't rush things. Enjoy the experience!

17.) His friends suddenly go out of their way to not show interest in you

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

Did one, or maybe more, of his friends used to be much more friendly and flirty than he is now? Don't worry, it's not you, it's your Taurus man (back to that whole jealousy thing). Guys do this as sort of a bro-code common courtesy thing. If your Taurus guy decides he digs you, then his friends will consider you off limits.

While it's not always cool for someone you're friends with (if you share the same group of friends) to start being weird about how helpful or nice he can be, at the root of this semi-awkward situation is a really sweet sentiment.

18.) He buys you a drink, or several

When you're out on the town, it's pretty standard practice for a guy who's hitting on you to offer to buy a drink. The Taurus man is no different, and he tends to be quite generous in this situation. If he likes you he will order your drinks off the top shelf, nothing but the best.

There are several obviously reasons you want to be cautious of drinking too much, and one of those reasons is that your Taurus guy isn't going to want to take care of a sloppy drunk. And, you don't want to be that guy.

19.) He complements your financial habits

Ok, I know this one sounds a little weird, but hear me out. Taurus men take financial stability and success very seriously and, as a result, they tend to be quite critical of the sloppy financial habits of others. If you do something that warrants a complement on your financial habits from one of these financial masters, you know you're doing something right.

Beyond being happy that your financial direction is on point, getting a complement of this magnitude from a Taurus guy can be a signal that he's really into you. He sees you as someone smart who he can plan a life with and not worry that you'll spend it all away. A very shy Taurus guy may use complements like this to let you know he has feelings for you that extend way beyond that of financial adviser.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

20.) He keeps showing up

A smitten Taurus is kind of like a bad penny, in that they always keep showing back up in your life until they get a chance to woo you, or at least spend a little more time with you. At first it may seem like a coincidence. You get a new job at a store or restaurant and he shows up...it happens.

The more he shows up, however, the more you start to think maybe the Universe is telling you something. This is very possible, actually. Taurus guys place a lot of value on seeing you in person and making memories together, so even subconsciously your Taurus guy will gravitate toward you and show up in your life until you notice.

21.) He's nicer to other people when you are around

It'd be great if everyone was nice to everyone else all of the time, but we all know that isn't exactly the way of the world right now. But, we can always hope for the future. You can tell a lot about a person by observing how they treat others around them, so if your Taurus guy wants to make the best impression on you possible, he's going to treat others well.

He may not even realize consciously that your presence has such an affect on his mood or his actions, even if the change seems kind of drastic to those who know him. This is not to say that he's not an honest guy, either. Actually, Taurus men are some of the most honest guys around. This is just an example of the way you can bring out the best in your Taurus guy and how this is a reflection of his overall feelings for you.

22.) He places his hand on the small of your back

This is, I think, the universal signal for "she's mine," and all men out there recognize it. Women, too. It can be a very comforting sensation when your Taurus guy come up and places his hand there on the small of your back, it makes you feel desired and feminine and protected all at the same time. It's kind of weird when you think about it, how one tiny gesture can create so many feelings and emotions in an instant.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

Now, you may or may not want him to be so hands so fast, and if this is the case you'll want to set your boundaries for physical contact as soon as possible. If you are into feeling his hands on you at this point, this is your signal that things can go further if you want it to happen.

23.) He starts doing "boyfriend stuff"

You may be in that weird limbo where you know you both like each other, you may have even kissed once or twice, and you spend a lot of time together, but neither of you have made the distinction of boyfriend or girlfriend. You're probably both afraid of what happens next and what if you spoil what you've got now, because what you've got now seems perfect.

Yep, other people have those very same thoughts, even your Taurus guy. In this instance, and when he really wants to be your boyfriend, you'll notice that he starts doing things a boyfriend would do. This is pretty cool because you don't even have to ask him to do things to help you out like you inevitably will once your relationship is official. Some couples try to extend this limbo period for as long as possible, and there are totally benefits to doing this, but be careful to not extend it too long or you risk creating a complicated situation for yourself.

24.) He takes a picture of just the two of you

In an age where selfie is actually in the dictionary, it's not unusual or out of place for a friend to whip out a phone or camera and ask you to pose for a picture of the two of you. It's quick, simple, and can give you a memento of your time spent together.

If your Taurus guy requests a pic of just the two of you there's a reason, and it's likely a very good one. It doesn't have to be a selfie, either, you may be lucky enough to stumble upon one of those old school photo booths that spit out a strip of pictures for five bucks. Taurus guys like things that are tangible, so wanting pictures to remind him of the fun you had together is a huge sign that he really is that into you.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

25.) He finds you and friends you on Facebook, Instagram, Snapchat...

If you suddenly find that sexy Taurus's name in your friend request inbox, there's a good chance that he's trying to reach out to you because he's got a thing for you. Of course, he may just be reaching out to you because he wants to be friends, but once you hit "accept," this gives you both a way to get to know each other better and makes the potential for you to develop a romantic relationship that much better.

26.) He likes, tags, and messages you via social media frequently

After you've friended him on your social media accounts you probably assume he's one of those people who doesn't use their account a whole lot. You may be shocked at how much he uses his account to comment on and like your posts or comments once that friendship is confirmed and accepted.

The increase in communication and activity between you and your Taurus guy are sure signs that he is totally into you and wants to get to know you better on a level beyond friendship.

27.) He's asked around about you

If you've heard from mutual friends and acquaintances that your Taurus guy has been asking around about you, you can be sure there's a good reason for it. Usually that reason is that he's into you and he wants to get a good feel for what you're like before he makes his move.

This is a good sign that your Taurus guy really likes you because he wouldn't invest his time in you or getting to know you otherwise. And, if you can get your friends to tell you what he was asking about you, you can get a good idea of what kinds of things are important to him in a girlfriend or possible partner.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

28.) He finds reasons to touch you

This one may sound a little creepy at first, but there is a method to my madness, I promise. There are a lot of different situations where you brush up against someone or your hands bump into someone else's throughout the day, and as long as you don't make it awkward, it isn't.

When a Taurus guy likes you, he'll find extra ways to brush up against you or have his hand bump into yours. If you work together he may take up the same schedule or routine as you, or do things that place him in tight spaces where you'll be. This still sounds a little weird, I know, but it really isn't. You can trust that if he is finding reasons to touch you, he definitely has it bad for you.

29.) You keep learning about new interests you share

It's important that you and your significant other have things you share in common, otherwise you may become bored with one another once the newness wears off. The more things your Taurus man reveals that match your interests, the more likely it becomes that he's sharing these things with you because he likes you.

He knows that it's important to try be able to relate to your romantic partner on some levels where you have things in common, so in telling you about things you already have in common he's really letting you know he digs you AND your hobbies. If he didn't like you he might try and hide the fact that you have things in common to avoid having to worry with being extended an invite to do whatever it is together.

30.) He's investing his time in building a friendship with you

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

Taurus guys do just about everything slowly, or at their own pace, and they really do value their time. Time is money, and money is king, so if a Taurus man is investing his time in getting to know you and building a friendship with you, you know his intentions are genuine.

The time he's investing now in getting to know you and becoming closer as friends is something your Taurus guy is hoping will provide a positive return for him (i.e., Your companionship in the future). This can be a really sweet gesture, but if you aren't that into him, you should probably let him know before he invests too much time in a relationship that's headed nowhere.

31.) He makes eye contact with you

Taurus men are usually pretty shy and they often will avoid making eye contact with people in an effort to get away without having to engage in meaningless small talk. On the other hand, when a Taurus guy wants to get to know you better, or if he's just mesmerized by your energy, you'll notice him making intentional eye contact with you more than just once or twice.

So what do you do when you find a Taurus guy locking eyeballs with you? If you're into him you'll definitely want to acknowledge his existence and look him right back in the eyes. Not in an aggressive way, but in a sexy, come hither kind of way.

32.) It's in the way he looks at you

Now that you've locked eyes with your Taurus guy, it's important to notice the way he looks at you. Is he looking at you with desire, is he looking at you with passion burning in his eyes, or is he looking at you tenderly with love and possibly imagining a bright future the two of you could have together? You can tell a lot about a man by the way he looks at you, but you have to pay attention to the details.

33.) He finds reasons to talk to you

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

If your Taurus guy seems to find every reason out there to initiate conversation with you, it's safe to say that he's probably just really into you and doesn't know how to tell you. He thinks that in talking to you about a wide variety of things, maybe the "right time" will come up and he will finally be able to share how he feels with you.

If you notice your Taurus crush finding new and inventive reasons to spark up a conversation, you want to try your best to sound like you know what you're talking about. Taurus men like a lady who's got a good head on her shoulders.

34.) He singles you out in a group

If a Taurus guy likes you, he will do his best to separate you from others you may be hanging out with. Whether it's an invite to watch the sun set on a balcony or maybe a dock outside, or if the two of you smoke or vape and he asks if you want to go out back with him for a smoke, if you've been crushing hard on him this is your moment to shine!

It can be especially hard to know how your Taurus crush feels about you when the two of you are friends and hang out in the same circles. When he pulls you away from the group, you get the chance to get to know each other a little better, and it's a clear sign that he's interested in more than you have happening between you right now.

35.) The way he looks at you

If you find your Taurus guy making eye contact and generally acknowledging your existence, this is a good indication that he's at least a little bit intrigued by you. By looking a little deeper into the way he looks at you can reveal so much about your Taurus guys feelings and intentions toward you.

His ascendant (or rising sign) will have a lot to do with how your Taurus presents himself, especially at first. He may have Aries rising and be confident, excited, and full of energy and passion, all of which will come out in the way he looks at you. Or, he may have Capricorn rising and be very reserved, shy, and perhaps even a bit apprehensive in how he examines you with his eyes. Once you've gotten past his initial "look," take a moment or so to really visually connect with him. Then, trust your intuition.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

36.) He tries to come off as a "manly man" around you

Taurus men like to be in control. They like to wear the pants in the relationship, so to speak, and proving that he's capable of this is a part of how a Taurus guy will show you that he's developed feelings for you that extend beyond friendship.

Sometimes...actually, most of the time dudes start doing "manly" things to win the attention of a female, they end up looking more ridiculous than anything else. We all know this, but, none-the-less, we still smile and act impressed. I mean, we do that if we like the guy. If you notice your Taurus man acting like a total fool to impress you, try to humor him and seem impressed.

37.) He's blunt and honest with you

This Taurus quality can make it seem like maybe he's just not that into you, but really, this is a quality in Taurus guys that is admirable, as well as straightforward, and can be a sign of his attraction to you.

You see, Taurus guys don't like a whole lot of mindless chatter or drama. They tend to be very blunt, straightforward, and sometimes downright rude, but honesty is the best policy, and it's one that the Taurus man lives by. If he takes the time and energy to be blunt with you and be that guy who tells you the things you don't want to hear, you can bet he's got a soft spot for you in that big bullish heart of his.

38.) He's super respectful of you

Most Taurus guys are very respectful in general, but when one of these dapper dudes develops feelings for you, you'll notice that he works especially hard to make you feel respected. This is a sweet gesture and comes through in several different ways.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

When a Taurus man is into you, you won't run up on him talking about you inappropriately with others. There's no derogatory comments made and he won't stand for anyone else making them about you, either. I guess the easiest way to describe what to look for here is to look for your Taurus man to just seem more mature and respectful than perhaps what you're accustomed to. And, if like so many of us, you've had experiences where your guy wasn't respectful, this will be a welcomed breath of fresh air!!

39.) He offers to pay your way

As I've mentioned, and you'll quickly learn, Taurus men aren't very liberal with their checkbooks if they can help it. That is, unless they are splurging on their favorite luxury or an addition to a treasured collection of some kind. They're "cheap," so to speak, except for when it comes to those they care most for.

A Taurus guy who's trying to let you know he's into you will want you to see that he is financially capable of being the man in the relationship. Also, he's into tradition, and traditionally the man pays. Don't be weirded out by this, go on ahead and let him buy your drink or movie ticket or whatever.

40.) There is an awkward pause when he's saying goodbye

If you and your Taurus guy are friends who are moving out of the friend zone, accomplishing this can be a super fun process with the caveat of several little awkward moments along the way. One of these moments is the pause when saying goodbye to each other, waiting to see if there is the opportunity for anything more to happen.

This is true of relationships where you've just met your Taurus guy, too. He hesitates, unsure if he should give you a hug, or maybe a quick kiss on the cheek, or to see if you have anything else to say, or maybe he's pausing just because he wants to be in your presence just a little bit longer. Whatever his reasoning, the pause is a huge sign that your Taurus is definitely into you.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

41.) He pays attention to the little details

Let's face it, most guys have the tendency to zone out from time to time, or in some cases, all the time. It's really no big deal until you run into miscommunications where he's telling you, "You never told me that," when in all actuality, you know very well that you did. This happens in just about every relationship and you learn how to deal with it in your specific situation the more you get to know your guy and how his mind operates.

When a Taurus guy is into you, there is none of that zoning out, in fact, he will be dialed into you and what you've got to say 100%. This can be nice if you aren't used to it, and it is a huge signal that he has feelings for you, otherwise he wouldn't be nearly so attentive and communicative. That said, be careful what personal stuff you share in the early stages of your relationship because the odds are whatever you say to him now will stay in his memory banks pretty much forever. This Taurus trait can be especially wonderful when he surprises you by getting your favorite super complicated coffee order correct without even having to ask!

42.) He tells you all about his collection

Taurus men are famous for collecting little treasures throughout their lives, and most if them have a collection of some sort to this very day. Being a pretty private earth type who generally keeps to himself, your Taurus guy probably doesn't go around showing everyone pictures of whatever he collects on his smartphone or inviting people to come check it out for themselves.

Actually, whatever he collects is going to be rather important to him, so if he shares this part of his life with you, there's no question he's got it bad for you. If he invites you to see it for yourself, well, right there you've got an in to spend some intimate, one on one time with him!

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

43.) He invites you to spend time being lazy together

You may not realize from his hard work ethic and practical sensibilities that your Taurus guy has a definitely lazy streak. I have yet to meet a Taurus, male or female, who didn't. The time your Taurus guy spends doing nothing and being lazy is like sacred time to him. It's his time to decompress and just chill, as is true with most of us.

If your Taurus guy invites you over for some Netflix and chill, he may actually just want to Netflix and chill. Of course, lazy time is indulgent time and there is a good possibility that one thing may lead to another, and there's an even bigger possibility that this is his plan.

44.) The happier you are the happier he becomes

Just like you can tell if your Taurus guy is into you by noticing his mood elevates when you are around him, you'll also see that he becomes happier as you become happier, even if the thing you're happy about has nothing to do with him.

This is a really sweet sign that shows he, not only likes you, but that he really cares about you and your happiness. This is a huge plus in a man, as I am certain you already know. If you're fresh to dating and haven't experienced having a relationship with someone who cares about your happiness, well...let me tell you, it makes a monumental difference in the happiness level of your overall relationship and it is wonderful.

45.) He is very generous with you

When a Taurus man is into you, like really into you, he will do more than simply pay your way into the movies or buy your drink. When he's really into you and wants you to know it, your Taurus man will be overly generous with you and only you. It's important that you let him while maintains boundaries and letting him know you are into him for reasons beyond what he has to offer you materialistically.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

46.) He makes the move to get physical with you

Taurus men are respectful and gentlemanly guys, but they are still guys and, when you get down to it, they are a sensual lot who really enjoy the pleasures of the flesh...preferably your flesh (I didn't realize until I typed it how creepy that sounds, but you know what I mean).

A Taurus man will wait to try and take things to the next level until they are relatively sure that you are into it, and until he's sure that he's totally into it. Once this has been ascertained, however, he can be quite the sexual force in the best possible way! It seems rather obvious, but physical intimacy is a huge sign that he's way into you.

47.) Your relationship is developing slowly

There are few things in this world greater than that feeling of falling hard into love with someone at first sight. That rush of emotion and the feeling of being so intricately connected to this other person is a huge rush and, some say, it causes you to lose all concept of logic for a moment or two. With a Taurus man you may get this rush of feeling, but you won't often find a Taurus who's all about rushing into a relationship.

Taurus guys take their time doing everything, and rushing is simply something that isn't done. This is especially true when it comes to meaningful relationships. That said, if you feel like things should be moving more quickly, but you're still pretty sure he's into you, look at this slow progression as his way of ensuring your relationship is built on the sturdiest of foundations.

48.) He remembers important dates and things you say

If your Taurus guy remembers your little brothers birthday or your parents anniversary dinner, he's a keeper! A Taurus guy who's into you will make it a point to keep up with what is going on in your life and he's the type to surprise you and keep up with your 1 week, 1 month, 6 week etc...anniversary.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

Even if you are still stuck in the friend zone and you aren't quite sure that he's super into you, if he starts keeping up with your important dates it is a good sign that he's ready to exit friend zone and enter relationship land.

Another awesome thing about having a Taurus guy be into you is that he also remembers things you say. This guy really pays attention! You may tell him on your first date about something you've always wanted to do but never got the chance, and if you give him enough time and things go well the likelihood is very great that he will one day surprise you with whatever it is you mentioned on that first date.

49.) He encourages you to do what you love

Any guy who is really and truly isn't you should encourage you to do what makes you happy. A Taurus man who's into you will, and he will mean it whole heartedly.

Your Taurus guy wouldn't have such an interest in you if he thought that your goals or dreams were totally frivolous or that you were headed diametrically in the opposite direction you should be. He's looking for a woman who he can build a life with, and he knows that when you're pursuing your dreams you are much more likely to find personal happiness and success, meaning you can be super successful together.

50.) He shows genuine concern for your problems

Taurus men are problem solvers, they will sit and think on a problem until the best solution presents itself and then they take action. It may take longer than most a Taurean to take action, but there's good reason for that. He's making sure he's chosen the best action to resolve whatever the problem is for good.

If you have a Taurus guy in your life who wants to help you get through the problems life throws your way, listen to him. Taurus guys give great advice, and if he has taken the time to evaluate and work through your problems, you know he cares. This is not only a sign that he's into you, it can also be super helpful!

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

51.) You catch him observing you

Taurus guys are generally shy, and that goes double if he's into you. Just because he doesn't talk to you a whole lot doesn't mean he isn't taking his time and learning about you by observing your actions. Maybe you work with, or are friends with a Taurus guy and you catch him watching you...depending on his overall demeanor this can seem a little weird. Don't be weirded out by it, though, he's probably trying to figure out how to approach you.

You can make his day by making the first move and getting a conversation going, just don't be surprised if he gets nervous at first or can't think of anything to say. This is a pretty huge marker that he's totally into you but isn't sure what to do about it.

52.) He offers to be your DD for the night

Nobody ever really wants to be the DD, I mean, unless you already kinda have that designation due to your own personal preferences. Taurus men, although very responsible lads, are known for their love of indulging in life's pleasures. Going out and having drinks with friends or a beautiful woman are a couple of pleasures that your Taurus guy enjoys most.

That said, if he offers to be your DD for the night and gives up whatever indulgences he would have had just to make sure you are safe and have a good time, well, this kind of selflessness from a bull is huge. His offer to stay sober and get you where you need to be is threefold when you think about it--He wants to make sure you are safe, first and foremost, he plans to be there to protect you and be your knight in shining armor, should the necessity reveal itself through the course of your night, and he probably also has thought about getting the chance to make a move when he takes you home.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

These kind of dates can turn out wonderfully, just so long as you don't indulge too much and get sloshed. The zone of perfect inebriation can be hard to find, but when you do you can be just flirty enough while still maintaining a good sense of your boundaries. Find this zone with your Taurus man and a night to remember is almost guaranteed.

53.) You share REAL conversations together

Most of the conversations we share with people in our day to day lives are nothing more than meaningless chatter meant to fill the times we're left with awkward silences. We give automatic responses to automatic comments and questions about how our day is going, what did we do this past weekend, or whether we saw America's Got Talent last week or not. And, if we aren't careful, these dry, automatic responses to communication can seep into our actual relationships and cause communication blockages and problems "getting" our partner.

It's important to guard against letting yourself become too reliant on automatic responses and meaningless chatter for a myriad of reasons, too many to go into in this article, I just think it is super important to make that point whenever I can. Now, Taurus men are not at all into meaningless chatter, which is a part of why they seem to be such a quiet bunch.

When a Taurus man is into you, however, he will communicate more than perhaps he's used to. The conversations and shared comments you have won't be fake or phony...because honestly, who has time for that? Taurus guys are quite intelligent and can hold their own in a conversation, even if you're a Gemini. When you realize you are in the midst of one of these meaningful conversations with a Taurus guy, talk it as a positive sign of his feelings for you. And, again, this is a sign that shows how genuine he is, which is a HUGE bonus.

54.) He confuses you by backing off and disconnecting from the connection you thought was developing nicely

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

Ok, this one is important. If I had a nickel for every questions and comment I've gotten from clients revolving around this Taurus habit, I would be a wealthy woman! It can be confusing as all get-out, and I can't quite explain why Taurus men have this maddening habit, but it seems to be a prevalent issue, but there's something about this that most women don't see and that's where they get tripped up and make a mistake that could ruin any future relationship potential. I go much deeper into detail about this in my Taurus Man Secrets series, but for now I'll give you a brief rundown of what's happening and what to do about it.

Taurus guys pull away when they start to develop real feelings for a woman. It's a change and it's scary, and after a little bit of time has gone by he may start to panic and think he will have to explain what's wrong, which is also scary because now he's having to communicate his deeper feelings AND he knows he's made you upset.

If you have messaged him, gotten angry, been passive aggressive, or otherwise tried to push him to contact or "just talk to you" during this time, well...that can cause complications and push him away even further. Give him space to think and if it takes too long, well, you have to determine how long you'll wait, but you will get nowhere trying to force his hand. On the positive side, this is, ironically, a sign that he really likes you.

Luckily, you can always find ways to communicate with him and figure out how to resolve this issue with a comprehensive look at Mercury in his natal chart, including Mercury's sign and house placement and any aspect made by his other planets or angles. Then, if you really want to know exactly how you, specifically, can best approach him during this weird period of your relationship, you can examine the ways in which the planets and angles in your natal chart affect his energy. Now you see why astrology is so amazing, and the more you learn the more amazing it can be!

55.) He's worried that your family or friends won't like him

Taurus guys aren't exactly the type to walk around worrying what everyone else thinks about them, he is totally happy doing his own thing and the opinions of others (unless they're someone he looks up to) are of little interest to the bull--For the most part, anyway.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

When a Taurus guy is really interested in you he will become slightly to intensely nervous about meeting your posse. He wants to take care of you and create a happy relationship with you and he knows that may not be possible if the ones you love don't like him. He may tell you that he's nervous, or he may try to keep with the whole knight in shining armor thing and just wing it and hope for the best. It helps to give him a little pep talk before the big moment and talk him up to your peeps! Once he sees that he's accepted into your inner circle he will mellow out a lot. It can be a little weird to see your guy act nervous, but it goes to show you how into you he is!

56.) He flirts with you

I know, I know...that one is obvious, but is it, really? Taurus men have a flirting style all their own--One of the things about bulls that fascinates me still--Is he actually flirting or if he is just joking around? Does what he just did mean he digs you, or did he just have something in his eye?...The world may never know, and you won't know if you don't take action!

Don't get me wrong, Taurus men can be so sexy and very seductive when they want to be, but they can also be nervous and unsure of themselves. After all, Taurus does rule the 2nd house in astrology, meaning your bull is probably pretty financially savvy, but he may also have some self image/self esteem issues deep down in there to deal with. These can come out sometimes when he's trying to flirt.

Those failed flirting attempts come across as adorable, yet confusing actions that all amount to him having a crush on you. There are times, too, that your Taurus guy might do something like tell you to just keep his stapler & he will get himself another, that way you don't have to worry about not having one anymore (this takes place in whatever setting you may be in where you would ask him to borrow a stapler). This simple act of kindness is a form of earthy Taurus flirtation...I swear it is.

57.) He lets you see his softer side

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

Deep down your Taurus man is nothing but a big old teddy bear. He may maintain the facade of being the tough guy, the problem solver, and the one who always puts logic before emotion, but beyond all that he really just wants to love and be loved.

In typical Taurus fashion, your guy won't often let you see his softer, more vulnerable side, not often anyway. When he does share things with you that reveal things about his past, his life, or that part of him that he doesn't introduce to everyone else, that is something special, for sure. Just be sure that you listen and really try to relate to him when he does open up to you and it may be something he continues in the future.

58.) He's comfortable in your home

Taurus men tend to be homebodies, and they aren't always into hanging out new, different places. If your Taurus guy comes into your home and you can see that he's comfortable and can enjoy himself and relax, you'll know that he is into you and he can probably see himself spending more time at your place in the future. Word to the wise here—If you want him to be comfy at your place it needs to be clean and tidy.

59.) He makes sexual innuendo via text

Taurus guys may not be super vocal about their feelings and desires, but via text you might find that he is totally into sexual innuendo and getting his flirt on with you. It may be easier for him to be sexually suggestive or make sexy comments in person, so pay attention to what your Taurus guy says via text. I've actually got an entire Ebook about how to text your Taurus man if you really want to become a Taurus man textpert!

60.) He sends you flowers

Taurus guys can be pretty romantic when they want to be, and thanks to having Venus as a ruler, Taurus men have an excellent eye for things of beauty. If your Taurus guy sends you beautiful flowers, you know he has it bad for you, and there's a very good chance that he got the flowers because they reminded him of your own exquisite beauty. Everyone loves getting flowers, so be sure you let him know how much you appreciate the gesture. This is one move that can definitely lead to more!

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

61.) He introduces you to his family

Taurus men take life relatively seriously, and he's not going to introduce you to his family if he doesn't intend on being with you for a good while, maybe forever. This can be nerve wrecking, not knowing if they'll approve and what will his mother, sister, brother, cousin have to say about you.

The best advice I can give here is relax!! HE wouldn't be bringing you to meet them if he wasn't incredibly into you or if he didn't think they would like you. And, if there is any issue with the fam, know that your Taurus is a bull who will stand up for you, even to his parents or whoever else may try to stand in his way of being with you. This sign reflects a Tauru man who plans to be with you for the long haul.

62.) He picks on you

This one takes us back to elementary school when those mean little boys who threw rocks at you would torment you all because he had a crush on you. Taurus is just the second sign in the "lifecycle" of the zodiac, so there is a part of him that will always and forever think like a little boy. If he picks at you in a flirty kind of way it's usually a sign that he's way into you. And, what's nifty about Taurus guys is that, being a kind of conservative earth sign ruled by Venus, he isn't going to take it too far. In other words, he's hoping to get positive attention from this, and the flirty back and forth banter can be really fun!

63.) He tries to get some time alone with you

If you are co-workers or if you hang out in the same group of friends, it can be difficult to slip away and spend some time getting to know one another better. How are you supposed to know if he likes you or not if you're always surrounded by people? Well, a good tip-off is if he starts trying to find excuses for the two of you to snag some alone time. When this starts happening is the perfect time to give him your number, or better yet, put your number in his phone for future use. It won't be long before you hear from him.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

64.) He plays hard to get

Taurus men are bad about playing hard to get. They love the whole cat and mouse game, but, being that men usually do the chasing, it can become kinda confusing when your Taurus man does this. You may feel like hse always leaves you hanging. Flirting shamelessly, maybe sending a text or two, but never fully being available, all in an effort to get you to pursue him. If you choose to do so, avoid being overly aggressive. Show him your feminine side and tease him a little to turn the tables. This will get your Taurus guy to reveal his feelings for you, and if you've gotten this far with him, he wants to go further.

Sometimes a Taurus man will play hard to get as a result of realizing that he likes you more than he intended. This helps him to feel like he's still in control of the relationship and his emotions. If he stays away from you and can't stop thinking about you he will always come back, unless you've previously rejected him or something like that.

65.) He defends your arguments in a group setting

Taurus men tend to have a commanding presence, making him the kind of guy people listen to. Often it will be a Taurus who's called to judge a debate or dispute among peers because of his natural sensibility and his sheer honesty.

If you find yourself in a group setting, such as with a group of friends or co-workers, and you realize that suddenly the room seems to be totally against what you've got to say, if your Taurus does, indeed, have a thing for you this is the point where he will step up and help you out. This goes back to the whole primal protecting you thing, and although sometimes annoying or overbearing, the things he says and does to make sure you are well protected are incredibly sweet.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

66.) He's willing to try new things with you

There are some things that all Taurus guys share in common; they like simple things in life, simple pleasures, and they like to have a routine. Stability and comfort are important to the bull and new things, even new exciting things, are generally frowned upon by the average Taurean. So, if your Taurus is willing and ready to explore new things or change up his routine with or for you, it's most certain that he has eyes for only you.

It's hard for some Taurus guys to find that partner who can draw them out and encourage them to try new things without overwhelming them with too much at once. If you make him want to have new experiences, you might actually be the perfect person for him and marriage could possibly be in your future.

67.) Whatever you do together suddenly becomes more fun

Nobody loves doing chores, or grocery shopping, or cleaning, or any of the other bazillion tasks we have to complete daily to keep everything running smoothly. Some days you just don't feel up to doing anything, but then you remember that you're supposed to see your Taurus guy today and suddenly you feel better about the day ahead.

If, when you see each other you chat and go on about doing whatever task it is you were dreading (or that you were at least not super excited about), and you suddenly realize time has past and you're almost done, and you're actually a little bummed you don't have a reason to stay and finish your conversation, there is a good chance that your Taurus guy has a thing for you. It's a nice feeling when you realize that you both enjoy doing everything a little more as long as you are together...that's the kind of stuff relationships are built from.

68.) He becomes your best friend

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

Taurus guys really make amazing friends once you get past the initial shyness and those piercing eyes evaluating you and your friend potential. A Taurus man who's matured a bit and knows better than to try rushing into a relationship until you know one another well enough will take the approach of becoming your friend first and worrying about the dreaded fiend zone later.

If he's always there for you as a shoulder to cry on, if he always comes when you need him to, he's dependable and someone you know you can rely on, he digs you...a lot.

69.) He waits for you

A lot of couples wind up in situations where they have to deal with a long distance relationship for a period of time. This can be incredibly hard on a relationship and, to be honest, most couples who try to make it work end up parting ways. If, for whatever reason, you know that you will be separated from one another....Maybe one of you is leaving for college or for a summer over seas, or even if he's a military serviceman, if he waits for you he's a definite keeper and he just might love you.

In the scenario where you never actually got together in the past and he still waits because he thinks there is a possibility you might be into him too, you are in for a romantic encounter straight out of a dream. And yes, this means that he is so, so into you.

On a smaller scale, you can also tell your Taurus guy likes you if he does things like wait for you to sit on the couch before he starts the movie, or otherwise voluntarily wait for you to catch up.

70.) He's always sweet and kind to you

Taurus men are really great, I mean, I have one of my own that I love dearly and wouldn't trade for the world, but I'll be the first to tell you that they do have a temper and all that earthy energy can easily be focused on what or who has disrupted his day to the point of actual anger. When this happens it's not usually pretty, and usually it's best to calm your bull down, if you can, before he does more damage than he intends.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

That said, if you have been friends, acquaintances, or otherwise for a good bit of time and he's always been kind and sweet, this is a major indication that he is into you and he wouldn't risk turning you off by showing his temper. Don't worry, though, once you're in good with him you will get to see what everyone else he knows sees...and actually, it can be entertaining to observe (keep in mind my Gemini Sun is easily amused by the bull and his temper tantrums & laughing at your Taurus when he's in a mood is not at all a good idea)

71.) He makes you dinner

Taurus men love, love, love to eat. In fact, you can ask any number of them and I am certain that food indulgences is high on all of their lists. As you might imagine, then, most Taurus guys end up being at least decent in the kitchen. I mean, if he learned early on that to have the delicious food he desired he'd need to learn to make it then he's had tons of time to work on and perfect his recipes. That means delicious meals for the two of you!

He's not exactly "domestic," so it may come as a surprise if your Taurus guy steps up and shows you his mad culinary skills. If he does it's a sure thing that he's got it bad for you and since preparing delicious meals is one of his favorite things, he now wants to share this with you. Watch out, you may be on his menu as desert!

72.) He shows you how he feels rather than tells you

Taurus guys are tactile creatures who, unlike their Gemini neighbor, aren't always so great with words. He can speak eloquently and if you give him enough time to formulate a response he can drop the mic on almost anyone, but when it comes to going through the process of sharing his feelings, your Taurus man would probably rather just show you through his actions.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

Anything, when done with the right intentions can be a show of affection or attraction. From washing your car to refilling your coffee cup or giving you a ride home, when a Taurus guy likes you he will make sure to be available when the time comes that you could use someone coming to your rescue, even if he is rescuing you from a dirty car or an empty coffee mug.

73.) He holds your hand

Handholding is one of the sweetest things a couple can do, especially those little old couples you see walking down the street hand in hand who've been married for 57 years or something crazy like that. I always stop and ask those types of couples what it is that's held them together and not all that surprisingly, I seem to always come back with the same sets of answers.

Of the things I've been told are the fundamental keys to building a solid relationship that will last the span of your lifetime together is actually hand holding, believe it or not. There is a lot of scientific research, too, that indicates holding hands with your partner does everything from lowering your blood pressure to relieving anxiety and just making us happier, overall. If you're into him and he reaches out for your hand, take it. This could be your start of a long and prosperous relationship. Not only all of that, but hand holding can actually extend your lifespan when you're in a happy relationship...there is more than you thought to this sweet romantic gesture!

74.) He makes time for you

Taurus men are typically either the type who show up early for everything and expect that you will as well, or they know that nothing super important can happen without them, so they show up whenever they damn well please. There really isn't any in-between with this.

When a Taurus guy likes you, he will never be late to an engagement the two of you have planned and he will bend over backwards to make time for you. You'll never know what great lengths he had to go to in order to be able to meet you for coffee during the time he was supposed to be in a meeting, but the look in his eyes when he's successfully made it and the two of you are sitting at a tiny round table sipping espresso and talking about life will tell you all that you need to know. On a smaller level, he will also start doing things like skipping guys night to stay in and watch a movie or hang out with you as a way of showing you he wants you as more than a friend.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

75.) He takes things so seriously when you're talking

It can be a little weird when you're telling this cute guy all about your life, career, family, dreams and goals, and whatever, and you can tell he's listening but you can't for the life of you figure out why he looks so stern and serious. So there you are, wondering what's going on and hoping against hope that he's not totally monotone and boring. In severe cases his attraction to you can end up making you feel like you're being interviewed for a serious position and the interviewer doesn't so far like what you've got to say.

The short answer to why some Taurus guys do this is that he doesn't know exactly what kind of face to make (I'm serious, I have heard this from more than one Taurus man) and he doesn't want to screw things up, so what turned out as "overly serious" is the result of your Taurus guy trying extremely hard not to miss anything you say and show you he is serious about getting to know you better.

Don't worry, his face won't stay like that forever. Once he feels you out and as he becomes more comfortable with you he will lighten up and be a bit more fun.

76.) He asks for your advice on something important

Taurus men are some of the most stubborn guys out there. I mean, the level of stubbornness is extreme to say the very least. Taking that into thought, it comes as little surprise that bulls aren't all that great when it comes to asking for or taking advice from others. He will give advice all day long, but taking it is another story.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

If your Taurus guy has come to you and asked your opinion on something, especially something of great importance, he's definitely got in his mind that you are something special. You're someone he trusts and admires to be asking your advice, and there's no question about it, he's diggin' your whole mind/body package.

77.) He asks if you have a boyfriend or he knows and he calls your current guy by the wrong name

Every guy knows he's got a 50/50 chance of you being available, but he's got to ask that one little question: "So, do you uh..have a boyfriend?" It can be really hard for a shy Taurus to build up the courage, and if you say yes, one of two things will happen: He will brush it off and act like he was asking for someone else or for some reason NOT relating to his having the hots for you. Or, he will now shift his attention toward figuring out how serious this boyfriend of yours is before he just gives up.

If you are available, he may take that opportunity to ask you out on a date, which is also, obviously, a sign that he's into you. If he decides to try and win you away from your current boyfriend then your current bf is about to have some serious competition. Taurus men are stubborn and patient, and will wait forever to get what he wants. If he wants you then it's only a matter of time before you are presented with the choice to be his.

Of course, if you tell him to seriously stop interfering with your current boyfriend and that relationship then he will. But, if that was what you truly wanted then you wouldn't be on number 77 of this article about Taurus men ;)

78.) He makes you feel important

Taurus men are really good about knowing how to make you feel like a queen and making you feel like you are an important, necessary part of his life. He will show you this through small gestures and big gestures alike, and every bit of it is done exclusively for you.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

Your bull is the type of guy to have your name, or even a proposal, spelled out in the clouds just for you. He's also the kind of guy who never misses an opportunity to tell you how much he enjoys your cooking or how much he appreciates all that you do.

On a less serious level he may send you a small thank you card, bring you lunch, or suggest that you order takeout on him to celebrate some achievement you've made recently. When you stop and realize just how much your Taurus friend makes you feel important and special, you can bet that he has had a thing for you for quite some time.

79.) He is loyal to you

You can tell when someone decidedly takes your side and stays loyal to you and your cause, even if you are caught off guard by it. Taurus is one of the most loyal signs in the zodiac, it kind of goes hand in hand with his honesty and his stubbornness. But, while being loyal is a huge part of his whole vibe, the Taurus man isn't going to extend his loyalty to any and everyone.

Again, it's not so much anything that he will come out and say, but in his day to day actions and things he says both in and out of your presence, you'll suddenly realize one day that this amazing guy has your back and he means it. It's true that this is also a sign that a Taurus man is a solid friend, but I've a feeling you can pick ups the hints of romanticism coming from his direction and take the hint that this man is absolutely wild for you.

80.) He invites you out on the town with him and his friends

Going out with the guys can be so much fun, omg. It's really cool when you have your guy and his fiends and everyone is cool and you all have a great time doing what you do and getting to know each other. Few things could be more fun, right?

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

As long as you are at least kinda low maintenance then you can have a good time out with your Taurus and his friends. But, if you're too high maintenance you may not get another invite, so that's something to consider, anyway. This is actually is a perfect opportunity to move from new friend or acquaintance to something more romantic. You already know he likes you because he invited you out with his crew, now, if you can show him you can hang and have a good time, after some harmless flirting you stand a good chance of things becoming intimate at the end of the evening...if that's what you want, of course.

81.) He complements or touches your neck

Everyone has some body part that they're attracted to. Some people like butts, some like boobs, some like feet, but Taurus men are crazy for a beautiful slender neck on a woman. You can ask just about all of them and get a similar answer on that. When you catch the eye of a Taurus man you can bet he's checked out your neck and if he's given you complements on it's beauty or elegance, you're well on your way to having him wrapped around your little finger.

You can feel it when someone is checking you out or staring in your direction, and it can be kinda creepy, but if you are crushing on him and trying to figure out whether or not your Taurus likes you the creepy factor quickly fades. If you've got long hair, now would be a good time to play around with some up-dos and maybe dig out some tank tops or something that shows off your assets a little better! If you really want to just blow his mind, and this works every time, find your guy and ask him if he'd mind helping you put on or take off your necklace.

82.) He checks up on you

Maybe you just got in from a long road trip with friends or to visit with family and he waits until he knows you should be home to text or call you. You think he's just being a good friend and making sure you're safe, and he is, but he's also checking in on you because he's attracted to you and if something happens to you he'd never have the chance to do something about his feelings. He's probably been worried sick for the last few hours waiting to know you are home safe and sound.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

Or, perhaps you had a break-in in your apartment building and he finds out. If he's into you even little bit, he will either be there in person or send you a text or call to make sure you're good, even though the culprit has been caught...he'll check in with you just in case. If he exhibits any of this type of behavior, he's more definitely up for being more than friends.

83.) He tries a little too hard to impress you

I think this is pretty true of most guys—They have this primal need or urge to show off and come across as the biggest, the most powerful, the most vile or the most competent when in the company of a woman who makes their heart race a little.

If your Taurus goes out of his way to impress you and show you what an awesome partner he could be for you, he's into you. The more butterflies you make appear in his tummy, the more extreme he will be in his efforts to impress, which is neat because you can kind of use this as a meter to gauge his level of attraction to you.

84.) He gives you a pet name

Everyone needs a cool nickname, and if you don't have one you're Taurus man might give you one. This is one way that he can show you how much you mean to him without laying all of his emotions out there and exposing his vulnerability too much. And, if he gives you nickname you can reciprocate the thought and come up with a cute name for him, making your pet names kind of like your own inside joke. This is clever on the part of the bull, because he knows that even if you don't fall into a magical lifelong relationship with one another, you'll always remember that nickname and who gave it to you.

85.) He offers to give you a relaxing shoulder massage

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

Fitting with his need for luxury, Taureans love massages, getting them, giving them, they love it all. If your Taurus guy is good with his hands, he might offer you a shoulder rub to ease those tense muscles. Taurus, both men and women, are turned-on by tactile stimulation almost as much as they are turned on by seeing you experiencing so much pleasure from what he's doing. This is a win-win when you think about it. You get a free massage with no strings attached and he gets to find a legit reason to rub your neck and shoulders.

Depending on how you feel about massages you may or may not want to take him up on this offer, but one thing is for sure, if he gives out free massages he's got a thing for you and is hoping the massage will provide him with an "in" to let you know.

86.) He opens doors for you

Some people open doors for everyone, but most of us miss it a time or two due to talking or plain old not paying attention...or whatever. When in the company of a Taurus man who's got the hots for you, you virtually never have to worry about opening doors because he has a plan to make sure you don't have to lift a finger.

This ties in with his need to protect and respect his lady and is an unmistakable sign that he wants you to be his and nobody else's.

87.) He remembers your name after only a brief introduction

It's easy to forget someone's name when you only meet for a brief moment. I, myself, am quite consistently guilty of this transgression. It may come as a shock, then, when that hot Taurus guy you met the other day remembers who you are and calls you by name the next time you meet.

If you made an impression, and the odds are you did, your Taurus guy will probably know more than just your name by the time you see each other again. This isn't a huge sign that he wants to run off and start a family or anything, but it is a great start and shows that he thinks you are cute and interesting enough to get to know a little better next time you are around each other and you've got the chance.

Read Next: "The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart"

88.) He comes out and tells you

Obviously, if he comes out and tells you that he has feelings for you there's really no guesswork involved, but you may be wondering if you can trust him or not. Well, the short answer to that question is yes.

If a Taurus man comes pours his heart out you can bet he means what he's saying! As you may or may not have learned by now, these guys aren't the best at communicating their emotions and feelings. This goes double for things that create a feeling of vulnerability for them. Putting himself out there and risking devastating rejection from his crush is pretty huge for a Taurus man and is something you can trust, but be prepared to enter into a relationship with a 100% honesty rule.

So, there you have it. My list of the top 88 signs that your Taurus crush, friend, customer, co-worker, or whomever he is to you, is totally into you. Hopefully some of these will be helpful as you navigate your way through the interesting and never boring world of dating a Taurus man.

This information, as extensive as it is, is merely a drop in the bucket when it comes down to really understanding who your Taurus man really is.

If you want to learn more about how to truly connect with and understand your guy, you should start with “The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart” over here.

Talk soon and may the stars ever be on your side,

Your Friend and Relationship Astrologer,

Anna Kovach

Read Next: “The Beginner's Guide To A Taurus Man's Heart”